Baltic Sea History Project 's core group meets in Stockholm

At the invitation of the Council of the Baltic Sea States (CBSS) a core group of the European project "CULTURAL PERSPECTIVES - on the way to a Baltic Sea Cultural Identity" met from 20 to 22 March 2014 for a workshop in Stockholm. The project targets to develop a pilot module for a virtual history book of the Baltic Sea Region by taking the example of urban architecture.

At their meeting, the participants from Estonia, Finland, Poland and Germany decided on the guidelines for authors and discussed how the present articles should be editorially standardised. These texts show in a multi-perspective approach the creation, development and perception of urban places, monuments and architectural ensembles in the Baltic Sea Region.

The EU project runs from 2012 to 2014. The Secretariat of the CBSS is one of the project partners. Lead partners are the Academia Baltica, the University of Szczecin, Tallinn City Archives and the Aue Foundation Helsinki. The project is funded by the Culture Programme of the European Union and by the German Federal Commissioner for Culture and Media.
